

A two-year initiative to bring community-based public art to Detroit neighborhoods.

The Skillman, Kresge, and JPMorgan Chase Foundations have joined together to fund this arts & community development initiative serving the six targeted Skillman "Good Neighborhoods." In the program's second year, each Skillman neighborhood will receive funding for lasting, highly-visible public art.

THE KRESGE FOUNDATION

Community Involvement

Project ideas, goals, and locations will be generated at the community level, address specific community goals, and involve residents, stakeholders, and youth at all levels.

City-wide Resources

The College for Creative Studies (CCS) will act as the program's managing partner with the support and partnership of the Arts League of Michigan; Bagley Housing; P.A.W.Z./Artists Village; P.E.E.P.S.; and Pewabic Pottery.

Supporting Artists in Communities

Detroit artists using their talents to help make Detroit neighborhoods into more vibrant, visually stimulating, youth and family friendly places to live. Arts events will bring communities together to celebrate.

A Coordinated Effort

CCS will host a full-time associate director to respond to community needs and coordinate artist and organizational resources. If you are an artist or community member with project ideas, or you wish to contribute to this city-wide effort, please contact Sioux Trujillo at 313-664-1549 or email strujillo@collegeforcreativestudies.edu
